General Comment

Do NOT pass this new rule Rule: Definition of the Term Fiduciary; Conflict of Interest Rule- Retirement Investment Advice, nor, incorporate any part of it that threatens the current status quo as to my option's trading, and/or to receive consul either free or paid-for in service, as is my free right as a citizen.

I have been an active trader for decades in many of the investment disciplines available to me, having made good use of my IRA account in earlier years to place option trades, including covered calls, and still freely draw as I so choose from any and all advisory letters, articles and service(s) (free or under a paid subscription) that I find beneficial to me.

I take deep exception to any changes which might infringe on my current most basic rights to:

1. To use my own, or consult my children in the use of their IRA retirement accounts to do option business.
2. To draw freely from any Broker, Advisory letter, article or service, from giving suggestions, opinions, or directions, either free or paid for, on or for any part of options trading.
3. Freely pursue any put/call option of my choosing, from investigation through final closure.
4. Make more difficult my ability to place a put or call option through the broker of my choice, or to get advisory information, and as perceived, needed further training.

I am over years of age, retired now for over 10 years, and am quite able, thank you, to make my own investment decisions as I so choose, without further interference from what in my opinion is a nannyist government infringing on my right to pursue my happiness as I see fit, and do not see intrusion into the option market obstructing free use of IRA accounts as beneficial to my family members.
